

As far back as I can remember my dream has always been to play college soccer at UCLA, I grew up in Temecula and we did not have much of a soccer culture, nor did anyone from my community have made it to such heights of playing college soccer at a prestigious D1 program, Bryan Wallace was not only my coach, he was my mentor and he provided me with all I needed to elevate myself to the next level and he had a plethora of connections with college coaches. I not only elevated my soccer abilities, and achieved my goal of playing soccer at UCLA, but I also lived my dream of playing professionally in Europe and I owe a great thank you to Bryan. If your ambitions are to play college soccer and beyond, you're in good hands with Bryan, there isn't a more connected youth club or high school coach with more connections and integrity.

-Dakota Collins UCLA Men's Soccer